

Matthew

Bwafwano Community School

Matthew lives with his mother, his young uncle, his sister and cousin in a three room house. The house belonged to his father, who died three years ago. Matthew's mother worries that her late husband's relatives will come and claim the house at any time.

Matthew goes to the community school at Bwafwano. He says, "The subject I like best is English. When I get home from school I read books and then I go and play football with my friends. When I leave school I would like to be a pilot. Or a doctor. I would not like to sell in the market because you can't make enough profit to expand your business."

His mother, who is herself unwell, says that the fact that he wants to be a doctor makes her very happy.
